IMPACT AWARD

Host

Kamahl Santamaria is a Principal Presenter at Al Jazeera English (AJE), and a journalist with 23 years experience across the Asia-Pacific and Middle East.

Based in Doha, Qatar, Kamahl joined the AJE launch team in 2005. In the 16 years since, he has presented hourly news bulletins, the

Newshour, discussion show Inside Story, and – for seven years – the business and economics programme Counting the Cost.

He then became the principal host of the interactive newshour newsgrid - a special edition of which was nominated for an International News Emmy Award in 2018. Kamahl has also been the electoral “number cruncher” for the past four U.S. presidential elections, and anchored Al Jazeera’s coverage of the 2021 U.S. Presidential Inauguration live from Washington DC. He has reported or anchored for Al Jazeera from 18 different locations in a dozen different countries.

Kamahl’s career began in 1998 in his hometown of Auckland, New Zealand, as a news and sports reporter with the TV3 Network. After three years he moved to Melbourne, Australia, to work for Sky News Australia on its nightly business programme.

Voice

Andrea Giordani is a professional actress, music composer, producer and voice over actor with more than 500 titles on Audible. She has a BA in Acting and Puppetry and MA in Acting from East 15 Acting School, London. Andrea plays six instruments and composes music for films, TV, radio, theatre and commercials. As a voice over artist she is featured in audiobooks, e-learning content, video games and commercials.

Welcome to the AIBs 2021!

This year is the 17th annual celebration of journalism and factual productions across TV, radio and digital platforms.

For the second year running, the pandemic has forced us to produce our awards event as an online TV show. Although we are unable to meet in person to see and hear all the shortlisted entries, and discover who has won in each category, we remain committed to showcasing all the work as stylishly as we can.

Our two programmes – on Friday 12 and Monday 15 November – will present the entire shortlist and reveal the winners.

As usual, none of our entrants know until the day each programme is released if they have won – we maintain the suspense until the last moment! In a virtual world this means that the production of our two awards shows is even more complex than our live events. I hope you feel that we have succeeded in getting the tone, pace, and anticipation right.

This booklet has details of the running order of each show. It also lists the credits for every production where these have been provided to us.

So now, sit back and enjoy a whirlwind trip around the world as we celebrate the AIBs 2021!

Association for International Broadcasting

The Association for International Broadcasting is the only “not for profit” trade association that represents international media organisations across the globe.

The AIB has offered a constantly evolving range of services to assist and support its international membership since the Association’s founding in 1993.

Among our services are the provision of market intelligence briefings helping Members make sense of the fast-moving marketplace, through to mission-critical support in areas such as cyber security and pandemic recovery.

We have introduced a Big Tech Intelligence Group for members to share concerns on the influence of and relationships with the major social and big tech platforms.

As a result of the increased attacks on our members, the AIB launched a media freedom initiative in 2018 to combat these. We will collate and coordinate intelligence on threats to media freedom from across the operations of AIB Members and also work to promote media freedom to governments and the public as well as rapidly responding to issues as they arise. The AIB is a Member of the intergovernmental Media Freedom Coalition Consultative Network, representing broadcasting and media companies.

In addition, the AIB is a key advocate for our members on issues such as channel licensing, sustainability, and journalist safety.

We are working with Royal Holloway University of London on the development of a major broadcasting cyber security research programme to help ensure that media companies are protected from cyber threats. We are also developing a toolkit for members to assist with building defences in workflow systems.

The Association’s industry briefings – that provide reports and information on Members’ activities – reach more than 27,000 people in key leadership and editorial roles in media companies in over 160 countries, as well as opinion-formers in regulators, parliaments and other key market areas.

Everything we do is for the benefit of our members located in every continent. Please talk to us about how the Association for International Broadcasting can help your organisation.
